

The aged Barolo Grappas of Marolo

9, 12, 15, 20 years old
Barolo, Grappas

“It is amazing to see the extraordinary display of aged single malt scotches, bourbons, whiskeys, cognacs and even tequilas in the American steakhouses. And what about grappa?” This was the basic thought of Paolo Marolo 10 years ago when he decided to give a new decisive direction to his work as “maestro grappaiolo.” This year, Paolo is introducing a limited release of exquisite 9, 12, 15 and 20 year old BAROLO grappas.

Without doubt, Marolo is the premier grappa producer, ensuring the highest quality in all of his products. Marolo is now making an unprecedented offer to the American consumer, with the release of his special collection of BAROLO grappas. These grappas are aged for the first 3 years in Italian oak barrels of 20-30 hl. From the end of the third year until the end of the twelfth year, the aging takes place in various 60 gal. barriques used to age barolo and marsala. From the thirteenth year until the twentieth, Marolo uses casks of 380 liters of acacia selected especially by him for this aging process.

The 9 and 12 year old grappas are marked by aromas and flavors of tobacco, leather, vanilla, dry fruit, and chocolate, with relatively fresh perfumes. The 15 and 20 year old grappas are in general “dryer” and more complex, with flavors of tar, licorice, and almonds.
